

Coaching Magic

27 – 28 September 2010

A 2-day Exploration of What's Really Possible

Michael Neill is an internationally renowned success coach and the best-selling author of 'Supercoach', 'You Can Have What You Want', 'Feel Happy Now!' and the 'Effortless Success' audio series. He has spent the past 20 years as a coach, adviser, friend, mentor and creative spark plug to celebrities, CEOs, royalty and others who want to get more out of their lives. Michael also hosts a regular radio phone-in programme on Hay House Radio.

Michael has been a close friend and coach to many of the Kaizen team over the years, and from personal experience, we'd describe him as the best success coach in the world right now! Because of his global reputation, it's incredibly rare to get to spend time with him in an intimate group setting (max. 20 people). Most of his audiences these days start at 500 people. We're therefore delighted he has again agreed to lead what will be an inspiring, challenging and breakthrough event, exclusively for Kaizen clients this coming Autumn in Hertfordshire.

As well as experiencing Michael in action coaching people in the group to amazing breakthroughs and transformations, you'll take away heaps of ideas about how to grow your coaching skills to the next level.

Places will sell out really fast for this event – so reserve your place NOW!

Here are a few words from Michael...

Would you like to be able to create seemingly magical results with your clients?

Are your clients already getting results far beyond your expectations but (if you're being honest) you're not really sure why?

Creating effortless success as a coach isn't actually magic (though it certainly is magical). It's the natural result of approaching clients from a place of profound well-being and developing your understanding of how they are creating their experience of whatever it is they are experiencing.

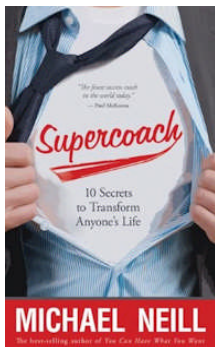

Traditional coaching takes place primarily on a horizontal dimension – we assist people in getting from point 'A' to point 'B'. Yet lasting, sustainable change nearly always happens in the vertical dimension – a deepening of the ground of being of the client, giving them greater access to creativity, inspiration and higher wisdom.

Here are typical signposts of someone who is being coached in this way:

- Results matter less than ever, and they produce them even more consistently.
- They lose the fear that "it will stop working" because they realize that "it" never worked - the capacity to create the life they want to live was always inside them, right from the very beginning.

What facilitates this transition from "improvement" to "transformation" is a whole new level of understanding of how it all works - and once you really see it you can never lose it.

If you want to be able to guide your clients beyond success into a deeper, more meaningful experience of being alive, come along and learn to unleash the magic inside!
